

The Tall Ships Races Magellan-Elcano Series 2021 Leg Lisbon to Cadiz Report

The truth is that I am very bad at making reports, but I will try to do my best.

I start by saying that for me it is very important to have fun in the regattas and make friends, talking about this series of 7 regattas that for my taste are magnificent as the series of the regattas of Agage (good friend).

In this last race I had the intention to gain a position in the overall but soon I realized that it was impossible because Olev was very fast in first place and without mistakes. Then I started to calculate the general classification of the series and decided to defend my position with Mediterranean and Rafa who were my most direct rivals. For my taste the biggest difficulty of the race was the beginning because of the low wind pressure and had to choose very well when to gybe to stay in an adequate pressure and watching what my rivals were doing to defend my position, when I saw that my situation in the race was optimal and I dedicated myself to try to hunt GREATSKUA (my best friend here and I know personally) the very sucker defended very well to the finish line.

Thanks to the organizers of the race.
